Forgotten Books, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from The Blind, Vol. 12: Occasional Paper; October 20th, 1900 The Principal's report, especially that part which deals with the important principles which underlie the Higher and musical Education of the Blind, is most interesting and instructive, and is a summary of the valuable experience of one who -has devoted his whole life in fitting with signal success those who are like-affected, for the battle of life. He states that when the College was founded in 1872, two of its fundamental principles were the physical training and development of the Blind, and effectual help in starting business. We believe this resolution to have been the very essence of the subsequent success amongst pupils who were educated at the College, and are now earning their own livings in the world. It is difficult to quote, where all is sound and well-judged, but we heartily endorse the following statements Pianoforte tuning will cease to be a good and successful employment for the blind, unless the work is thoroughly and expertly carried out. The blind cannot afford to do work which is not the best of its kind. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
